POMPEIL IS KILLED,

But the Columbian Fourth of July is Well, Thank You.

SEVEN GUARANTORS WERE NEEDED

But Hard Hustling Resulted in Five, Who Wouldn't Take the Responsibility-Why Can't Manager Skiff Bring the Exhibit Hero as His Own Venture 7-The Columbian Fourth Receives Added Vigor and Vitality.

The meeting of the members of the chamber of commerce and others interested in the proposed production in Wheeling of Pain's spectacular and pprotechnic exhibit "The Last Days of Pompeli" was unfruitful, and the scheme was dropped. The hitch was on account of the inability of the five gentlemen who were endeavoring to get up a committee of seven persons to guarantee and take charge of the exhibition here, to secure two others to join them, and as they did not feel willing to shoulder the responsibility by themselves, nothing could be done except to drop it.

The failure to secure this magnificent spectacle is greatly to be regretted, but the people will have be free to put in their spare more as booming the Columbian Fourth of July celebration, which was for a time overshadowed by the Fompelian enterprise. It need not be thought that the failure to get Pompeli will kill the other celebration, as the committeemen are willing and anxious to push the celebration to a successful conclusion. The Columbian committee on street demonstration has been called to meet this evening at the been called to meet this evening at the chamber of commerce and a full attend-

A good many people think that if the Pompeiian show is such a good attraction, Manager Skiff could do no better than bring it to Wheeling and exhibit it, as he did in Cincinnati, "on his own hook."

THE FALL OF POMPEIL

This Time the Scene is Laid in Wheeling. Scenesat the Death.

The meeting last evening of the chamher of commerce to take action relative to securing "The Last Days of Pompeii" as an attraction here this summer, commencing on the evening of July 1, and extending over a period of three weeks for ten nights, was remarkably weeks for ten nights, was remarkably well attended.

Mr. George E. House said he had ascertained the price of a grand stand. He had a bid from Wood Bros. of $3,500 for a grand stand, or $2,500 if they got the lumber back after this season. He said a committee of gentlemen had agreed to take upon themselves the responsibility of the spectacle if the subscribers for the forty boxes would sign written contracte. He was of the opinion that at least $3,000 would be taken in on the opening night. Including concessions, he thought the concern would, after the first two productions, have $14,000, leaving but $6,000 to be made to pay all estimated expenses, which could easily be covered by the receipts for the remaining performances. The matter hinged upon the securing of the signatures of the box subscribers, who subscribed verbally. He said they would not go into it for the prespective profits, but for the good of the town.

Mr. Bear was glad there were gentlemen who had the preye to take the of the town.

Mr. Beer was glad there were gentlemen who had the nerve to take the responsibility of bringing the production to Wheeling.

Mr. Smith said he was sure none of the merchants who verbally agreed with him to take boxes would reluse to sign for them.

MR. BARR HAD A PLAN. Mr. Baer had a paoposition which might tend to strengthen the enterprise, but he would not make it known until he knew whether Mr. House's colleagues were ready to go ahead.

Mr. Hart wanted to know if there was an impression among box subscribers that they were to receive any possible profits. Messrs. Smith and Schwertfeger said no such impression existed. He did not think anyone would concern himself as to the direct profits that may possibly derive. He was sure no merpession desired. possibly derive. He was sure no mer-chant who verbally subscribed for boxes would back down. He suggested that those present who proposed to be guarantors declare themselves ready to go ahead as soon as the box subscribers sign for them.

Mr. House said he had four colleagues who would go shead, but there were two others who had not yet signified tneir full intention to enter into the project.

Mr. Schwertfeger said he would go in with ten men, and Mr. House said he would like to see ten men signify their intention to enter.
Mr. Baer said the committee of seven is a little doubtful of success. He had a plan which he outlined. The original idea was for a Fourth of July celebration for which some money was raised, about $1,400, all good if the programme is carried out. He suggested to go on with the Columbian Fourth celebration with the Columbian Fourth calebration involving an outlay of about $200. Those who have subscribed for the Pompeiian bexes are not to pay for the expenses of the Fourth, and the balance to be invested in tickets to Pompeii.

POMPEH AND THE POURTH.

Mr. Hart said that the understanding is that the Pompellan enterprise will undertake the expenses of the celebratien of the Fourth, greatly simplifying matters; otherwise things would be greatly mixed up. He proposed that mebody shall be called upon for two subscriptions.

Mr. Baer took a different stand, saying most of the subscriptions for the Fourth of July celebration were for $5 and less, not traveling in the same class as the box subscribers.

Mr. Hart said Mr. Skiff had suggested that the Pompelian concern pay for the daylight celebration in consideration of getting the subscriptions already secured by the Columbian-Fourth com-wired by the Columbian-Fourth committee.

Mr. Smith said there would be not much conflict between the subscribers to the two enterprises.

Mr. Hart said much of the money collected by the Columbiau Fourth committee was taken under the impression that there would be an unexcelled fireworks exhibition.

Dr. Haslett asked if all the subscribers to the fund for the Fourth would not have to be seen before the proposed transfer is made. He said the amount $1.000 is really insignificant, compared with what will be necessary to float Pompeli.

Pompeli.

Mr. Jolly said he had been somewhat Mr. Jolly said he had been somewhat disappointed. He was of the opinion that there had been enough talk to bring the show here ten times. Rather than see the thing fall through he would increase his subscription fifty per cent. He thought there should be a better spirit and;that "Pompeii" should be at once secured.

AFTER GUARANTORS.

The meeting here became informal, and a number of schemes were proposed. The five gentlemen who were ready to be of a party of seven to take the responsibility of the production hustled around and tried to get others

Mr. Smith said during his canvassing trip he had been asked what good the spectacle would do here, and had answered that the patrons would be of a better class than those who attend circuses.

Mr. Baer moved that the roll call be called, and a vote taken on his plan of putting the balance of the Fourth of July subscriptions, after expenses of the daylight celebration are paid, into a fund to purchase general admission tickets for the Pompeiian show to be given to the subscripers program. Subgiven to the subscribers pro rata. Subscribers for Pompeiian boxes are ex-Mr. Hart thought there might be some objection among the subscribers on account of not gotting what they subscribed for. The vote on the reso-lution resulted in eighteen ayes and five noes, and the resolution was de-

Mr. House said it had come to a point when two more men were required to make up the guarantee committee. He was surprised that it was not possible to find seven men to assume a slight risk when so great a benefit is in sight for Wheeling.

THE MAYOR HAS HIS SAY.

Mayor Caldwell rose to explain his vote in the negative. He was of the opinion that the chamber of commerce is going out of its way in going into the show business. Freeident Quarrier denied that the chamber was going into the show business, but is lending its aid to a spectacle that will benefit the city.
The mayor read a paper he had prepared, against the proposed spectacle; he was more thoroughly in fayor of bringing in manulacturing enterprises.

bringing in manulacturing enterprises. After reading a newspaper extract regarding Findlay and its busted boom, whose manufacturers are leaving, he said the chamber should make an effort to bring some of these industries to Wheeling. "Gentlemen, these are lacts, no Pompelian display about it." He claimed the guarantee would surely have to be paid, which is the reason these gentlemen are so backward. Concluding, he said the chamber had gone out of its way in championing a show, and that it would be better to secure a public park for the city. The spectacle comes, he said, in the middle of July, when the farmers are in the fields and will not come to the city at that time. will not come to the city at that time.

MR. BARR REPLIES. Mr. Henry Baer said that he thought the mayor was some time in getting warmed up, and that such opposition would have a good effect on the proposed would have a good effect on the proposed spectacle. As to bringing in manufacturers, the mayor's remarks were true, it was as much the fault of the city council, of which the mayor is presiding officer, as of the chamber of commerce. He claimed his subscription to a pottery in Tittonville was strictly in line with Wheeling's interests.

Mr. Smith suggested if Mr. House and his party wanted to make a proposition, the time had arrived as it would be difficult to get a quorum again.

be difficult to get a quorum again.

Mr. House said nothing could be done until two more guaranters came for ward.

Dr. Hazlett thought some expression should be given by the chamber regarding the Pompelian, and moved that the chamber favors all efforts made by citizens to secure the Pompelian spectacle. The resolution provided vailed.

Mr. Joseph Bell said he didn't propose to make himself a ticket agent for a show, and thought the chamber should not lend itself to such a scheme. He was in favor of doing what he could for Wheeling, but thought the Pompeii people are asking too much money.

Mr. House said the chamber was not going to do such a thing, but that a number of gentlemen are taking charge of the production in the interest of the city.

There was some discussion as to the prospective profits, and President Quarrier took occasion to say that really the primary purpose of the chamber is to advance the city's interests, and he objected to it being said that the chamber "fathered" a show, for it is simply promoting something for the good of the town. As far as the poorer classes are concerned he thought no one should are concerned he thought no one should object on that score, as by bringing the spectacle here the poorer people can have an opportunity to witness it.

Mr. House said any motion to post-pone taking action until Wednes-day wouldn't do any good, and stated that he and his colleagues had failed to that he and his colleagues had failed to secure two members to complete their committee of seven. That ended the matter, and the meeting adjourned after a resolution had been passed, thanking the Pompelian finance committee for its zealous work during the past week.

Mr. Hart spoke just before adjournment on the line of the Fourth of July celebration. Mr. Joseph Bell arose and said now that Pompeli is out of the field he would subscribe $20 to the Columbian-Fourth fund. Columbian-Fourth fund.

Were Yesterday Paid Into the United States Court at Parkersburg, and an Order was Then Issued and the Receivership Vacated-The Road is Now in its Former Position.

The sensation of the last three or four days, the turning of the Norfolk & Western railroad property into the hands of a temporary receiver, by order of Judge John J. Jackson, while sitting as a United States circuit judge at Charleston last Friday, yesterday reached its climax and finality. As predicted in Monday's INTELLIGENCER, the attorneys and officers of the road hustled around and got the required $44,-000 to settle the claim of the Catlettsburg, Ky., contractors, Thompson Bros., at whose instance the suit and subsequent receivership proceedings were instituted. Messrs Campbell and Holt, the Huntington attorneys, represented the company, assisted by General Alfred Caldwell, of this city, and Frederick M. Leonard, of Philadelphia, assistant solicitor of the railroad company. The latter secured the money Sunday and immediately started for Parkersburg, where Judge Jackson was at the time. Here he was joined, by the other three and in chambers yesterday morning the case came up again before the judge. The attorneys offered to deposit with the court the amount for which the suit, which ended in the temporary receivership, was brought, Bros., at whose instance the suit and temporary receivership, was brought, $44,000, and to this the judge assented, and then issued the following order.
